A Western Welcome

From every point of the compass they rolled in, down on a little school house of the prairie they swooped, to greet their men from the front.

Right pleasant to watch so eager a crowd, to mark no lack of enthusiasm.

The spokesman of the evening in tracing the incident that marked the progress of their volunteers in the strenuous past, struck the note of enthusiasm.

Many meetings have the walls of that little school house witnessed, but nothing like this, a red letter day indeed, in its short history, long to be remembered.

Deva was the welcome for them men, who beyond the seas in all those days each one as best he could, upheld the honor of a man, no less than the good name of a loyal subject.

The coldest heart would be touched, the dullest imagination stirred in recalling how these stalwart had left, in remembering the morn.

Mingled reflections such as these must have struck the minds of turn was being celebrated in the haven of home. Numerous events through which they had passed, and whose reality still present, and to the men themselves, the accorded welcome doubtless carried conviction that, while in absence memory still held them near to those at home, the cherished hope of a re-union had now received its reward.

Truly a good return, but not without its tinge of sadness in the silent thought devoted to the memory of those good comrades who return no more—over them, for ever pass the whispers of the breeze!

Spiced Grape Jam

Wash and pulp the grapes; put the pulp into a porcelain-lined kettle and boil for ten minutes; mas this over a slow fire and add to the skins, and boil slowly for two or three minutes; then add half a cupful of sugar to each cupful of grape. Both the amount of sugar and the time to boil depend on the kind of grapes; some grapes take a great deal more sugar and longer time to cook, while others will boil away, others will not boil so easily. If you find the skins will not get soft, mash all through a wire strainer and to each quart of grape jam add the following spices: Two level teaspoons-full of ground cinnamon, two level spoons of ground allspice, one level teaspoonful of ground mace, two level teaspoonsful salt, and half a cupful of good cider vinegar, and boil for one hour.

This is very good with cold meats or poultry and is put into glasses or jars the same as jelly.

The only thing people like about second-hand stuff is the price.

There Is No Halt Right To The End

Canadians At Home Will Do As They Did In France And Stick To The Job Till Finished

At "Five minutes to eleven" the order was given in France—"Cease firing!" The war was ended.

What a sudden silence must have fallen over the devastated country. What a tremendous change it must have been from a few minutes previous.

"Five minutes to eleven" found the Canadian corps on the job. They had never faltered. There had been no weakening. The Canucks never retreated.

"Five minutes to eleven" is going to strike here at home. Will it find us in the same condition?

The Victory Loan 11:15 will open on October 27 and after three weeks selling, the clocks will ring out the "five minutes to eleven" in Canada. The final drive will be over.

Will it find us with a task well done? Can we then say that we never faltered? Will we carry it through to the finish?

You may shake. Think your "five minutes to eleven" ring in sweet and clear for you will have done as the boys did. You will have stuck to the job until it was done.

Wake up! Wake up! Monday is the day that the Victory Loan opens.

Monday is the day that Canada shows the rest of the world that she is still on the job.

Monday is the day when we clean up the last spot left by the war.

Monday is the day when we have another chance to invest in bonds paying 5-1/2 per cent, and backed by a wonderful guarantee.

Monday is the day that Canada gathers into her treasury the necessary cash to fulfil her obligations to her soldiers and to thine dependents of her glorious dead.

Monday is the day when Canada assures herself that prosperity will continue in the country.

The Earwig That Held Up A Railway

One busy morning along the District Rail way to the city, there came a sudden stoppage. A signal stood at "danger" and no train could pass it. Minute after minute went by, and the whole service of trains bound for the city came to a standstill. Hundreds of important people in the most important city in the world were kept waiting. The curious point was that the railway officials could not account for the behaviour of the signal, which works automatically. A man was set to investigate the mystery.

Early in the day in company, creep for shelter into any cranny in which they can escape the light; and this one, after it night's foraging, had by some means found its way into the mechanism of the signal. Its little

Not only does the little doll mother dress her children, but she daubily embroiders their clothes. Those who have seen her handiwork, say that the stitches are perfect when examined under a magnifying glass.

DRAMA IS VALUABLE FACTOR IN LIFE OF THE COMMUNITY

The drama as factor in community life is one of great importance, and in rural districts is sadly lacking. The result of this gap is not so easy to realize or define. To many of our readers, coming as they did from the cities and from older more established communities, the earlier experiences of homesteading, coupled with the ever present dream of a grand, happy, healthy and prosperous future, in a setting of vast prairie and a near perfect climate, was itself a drama—the drama of life, full of hope and optimism. In those days the need of dramatic presentations was at its lowest point; fortunately for all concerned that this was so, in view of the fact that drama could not be presented profitably at the large number of small rural points spread over the vast Western plains. Even at the present time, it is utterly impossible for dramatic companies of merit to visit the rural towns. As a matter of fact towns like Edmonton and Saskatoon are this season experiencing the greatest difficulty in obtaining anything but ordinary talent. The shows presented in these cities to-day are not of the merit and charm that one would have expected—they are merely the best the various managers can obtain.

How much more difficult is the commercialization of first-class drama presented at the smaller towns—commercially speaking it is impossible. Motion pictures have in a large number of places done great things in serving to partly satisfy the love for drama, as has also the Chataqua activities. Chauvin has not been favored with a visit from the Chataqua people, and is consequently the amount of the bonus added. The visits of moving pictures have been few and far between. So we have become quite accustomed to our lack of drama with its pleasure and education.

Drama forms a large and necessary part in the upbringing of our children: the fairy story with its fantastic episodes portraying the ultimate victory of the good in human life; the most popular games are those which directly or indirectly aid the players to taste the joys of achievement through effort; later in life the youth and maiden, by the force of their growing natures, begin to translate their earlier play-dramas into the action-dramas of their greater capacities.

Through all ages and stages of civilization the drama has been a potential factor in the presentation of ideals. From the dances of the savage depicting war, hunt, love and plenty, the drama has been used to uphold every social, moral and religious ideal known to man.

With the advancement of the arts of writing and reading and pictorial arts, the drama has served in a larger degree as recreation and amusement, though not losing all its educative value. And too, like every other human activity it has its faults and evils. Thus we have had the Puritanical enmity to the stage. To-day, however, it is commonly recognized in the war-swept countries that the drama was of great value in maintaining the moral of the people.

We are of the opinion that the local ladies and gentlemen, who give their time to the preparation and presentation of the drama, such as we witnessed in the new Oddfellows Hall last Thursday afternoon, the Veterans who will present drama November 11th there are performing a distinct service to the community. We admit it may be termed a "bunch of foolishness and folly" but as we are all only old children and need to play well to enable us to live and work well, these local players using their talents so freely, certainly deserve our thanks. Not alone do they provide amusement for us but they are saving our money from going away from the district, the proceeds of their entertainment does not profit them personally any more than the rest of us. The proceeds are going to the objects for which entertainments are given and result in permanent improvements in our district.

Now would we overlook the sterling value of our local band of musicians composing our orchestra. They are small in numbers, but possessing more than ordinary measure of skill and talent. They too, have devoted many long evening hours to preparation, at considerable sacrifice and even personal discomfort in their enthusiasm and as a result gave us a most excellent performance. The most sincere and acceptable thanks we can offer these workers is shown by giving them not alone a few words of encouragement, but by a more material form of recognition by calling for their services, as frequently as occasion permits and facilitating their valuable work in every possible manner. By doing these simple things we are making an easy natural start in the upbuilding of our social civic life in the fields of music and drama. There is more talent in our own midst than we are inclined to believe and with this talent we have the choice of doing two things; firstly snubbing it down into oblivion and second by giving it due and proper encouragement and nurture in order that it may develop more to the benefit of itself and to the community in general.

Everyone Who Bought Canada's Victory Bonds Made Money

EVERY one of the million and a half subscribers to Canada's Victory Bonds knows that he can sell them today for more than he paid for them.

Every one who bought Canada's Victory Bonds has received 5½ per cent. interest per annum—paid twice a year.

Over half a million Canadians who bought Canada's Victory Bonds on the instalment plan saved money that they would not otherwise have saved.

The guarantee back of Canada's Victory Bonds is the same as the guarantee back of a One Dollar or a Two Dollar bill. There is this difference, however, that you get interest on the Victory Bonds and you don't on the One or Two Dollar bill.

Canada's Victory Bonds will always be accepted as security for a loan.

Banks are ready to loan money on Canada's Victory Bonds.

Canada's Victory Bonds may be turned into cash at any time.

There is no other way in which you can invest your money with such absolute security—paying such a good rate of interest.

Canada will soon give her citizens an opportunity to buy Victory Bonds 1919. It will probably be the last chance to buy Canada's Victory Bonds on such favorable terms.

Prepare to buy as many Victory Bonds this time as you now wish you had been able to buy the last time

Victory Loan 1919 "Every Dollar Spent in Canada" in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

ing special reference to the gallantry and in the field of Messrs Wright and Michel.

In proceeding, Mr Chapman in felicitous terms, reviewed the events of the war, expressing the pride we all felt in our volunteers for active service. He said that many had been lost by the loss of arms and legs, but he was glad to see how these stories were disproved when he looked round at the men now present.

Each man suitably responded but it was left for Mr J. W. Coe J.P., to speak. In doing so he spoke briefly. Which he did in a characteristically earnest and witty speech. Paying an eloquent tribute to the fallen, he observed that we have three gallant lads, who most assuredly died, that Canada, as a nation might live, and that although they lay under the little white crosses away in France, yet were we thinking of them, and honoring them for their selfless devotion to our country. Coe closed in thanking the district in their delightful present, said the remarks of the reeve will always be an inspiration. We shall each regard the watch as our greatest treasure. We shall view it as the symbol of, at least, our due appreciation of the debt of gratitude to the reeve, and which was received by Sgt Wright, was carried by acclamation.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing. The music supplied by Mr Voss, the violinist, and Mr. Foley, the drummer, and some dancing combined with the skill and energy of Mr Foley as room manager in his usual intimitable style rendered this portion of the programme more attractive than ever.

It will be noticed that M. A. W. Wright's name was omitted in the presentation. We would remind our readers, however, that our friend received his present on return from active service.

We were almost over-looking the arrangements of the refreshment stall. These were in the hands of Messrs Geo. Masson, A. Hall and Henry Johannes old friends who have long since moved, and still do well in that line, so we were told say no more.

For the success of the evening, and we think it was complete, we are indebted to the efforts of the committee and sub-committees of whom in offering congratulations we feel compelled to make present. For the charming appearance of the dinner-table, no less than for the artistic taste displayed by the ladies' committee in so admirably toning down the harsh lines of the school room, in their general scheme of decoration, our thanks are due.

As for the ladies who generously contributed numerous and noble basket-estates, the remarkable speed with which these were emptied, offered direct evidence of pleasure conferred.

In conclusion we are glad to mention that letters of appreciation of what our boy did, have been received by Sgt-Mjr Coe, from the following officers under whom they served—Lieutenant S. Rankin, 46th Canadian Battalion; Major H. J. Blinie, 65th Battalion; Captain M. L. G. Armstrong, 45th Battalion.

We may mention that the intention was to present each man with a cheque, but until the accounts are finally closed, this must be postponed to a later date.

ONE MORTGAGE AFTER ANOTHER
"Ever tempted to sell your automobile?" asked the Cheerful Idol.

"With the money I am strong enough," replied Mr. Lebold, "but there are too many points involved. You know I mortgaged my house in order to buy the machine."

"Yes, I knew that."

"Well, I mortgaged the machine in order to build the garage and now I've had to mortgage the garage in order to buy gasoline."

The Live Cattle Export Trade

While in Europe studying the market for Canadian meat products, Mr. H. S. Arkell, Live Stock Commissioner, discovered with respect to beef cattle that a problem exists that will prove a worthy test of Canada's nerve, ingenuity and determination. According to Mr. Arkell's statement that appears in the October Agricultural Gazette, "the difficulties are great, but they are not insurmountable. He says:

"In the Argentine and Australia are more and better cattle than in Canada and these countries are providing much cheaper sources of supply. The Argentine has landed live cattle in Italy and is sending them on to the United States for Germany via Antwerp. The United States is trading with France, and is busy in Holland, endeavouring to secure passage to Germany via Rotterdam. We have secured this concession for Canada on account of the health of Canadian cattle and it now remains to see what advantage we can take of it. Two Canadian firms only, one Western and one Eastern, have as yet dared to face the risks of live cattle export and they deserve all the success and profit which they are likely to obtain from it. This firm, I think, must become a necessary part of our business. So far as Europe is concerned, we are only at the beginning of this business, even if in the end it proves not to be permanent. Germany, France, and Belgium are now in the market for live cattle and the landed prices is from $65 to $75 per head. In the next spring there will be large demand for feeding and breeding cattle the latter chiefly of the holstein and Shorthorn sorts. I recommend the organization of companies of producers to join with connection men in the development of this market."

The present avenues of distribution will be widened; otherwise other countries will secure the business to Canada's disadvantage."

preach to that fountain which has yet been discovered is theudder of the cow. Without her milk, her children languish, the vigour of the adult diminishes and the vitality of the animal disappears. Millions of these gentle, unobtrusive "foster mothers" of man have become the victim of this war. The world faces a shortage of dairy products. Let us help meet this shortage in every way we can.

A favor that requires nerve to ask, requires no nerve to refuse.
